

Somebody Else

I am trapped inside of myself Until you make me somebody else

I must be out of my mind
To keep pretending that I'm gonna find
Some other answer besides who you are
Some other exit besides through your heart

When all the world is just a dark shadow spinning
And all I know is not enough to change anything
When every plan and all my friends fall short
And I'm alone I know again the only place I can start is

*There is no discipline that's comfortably easy
It takes more than what I have just to trust that you're with me
You're changing something deep inside who I am
And leading me to where your love is all that I stand on Because I know that*
